

Internship programme

Paid internships for Catholic Students to work in Catholic Schools

Information for Students

We are looking for Catholic students who are interested in teaching as a career. Whilst we welcome all in our schools, we need to have practicing Catholics to lead them.

Through our internship programme we hope to give you an insight into how exciting and fulfilling teaching can be. We will pay £300 a week to interns accepted through this programme. At the end of the 3 weeks, we will invite you to Westminster to find out about the different routes there are into teaching.

Currently, new teachers in our diocesan schools start on a salary of £30 000 -£31 350. For those who want to progress quickly to leadership roles, our career progression ladder shows how we can work with you to support you in developing the skills you will need at each stage of your career.

Information for schools

Schools are invited to apply to host an intern. This will be a chance to develop relationships with possible future teachers and could help with recruitment to your school.

The full requirements for schools to participate can be found here

The application process for schools to receive an intern can be found here. If schools are not successful in being allocated a funded Intern, they are able to make arrangements themselves with other candidates.
