A. Classroom Religious Education

What has improved since the last inspection?

Both recommendations from the previous inspection have been successfully implemented. Firstly, good practice has been shared across the school and high quality CPD has enabled staff to share resources and expertise. Secondly, school self-evaluation has improved considerably. The Self Evaluation Form is a working document with contributions from all key staff and governors; it is comprehensive and analytical.

The content of classroom religious education is outstanding

The content of classroom religious education throughout all key stages meets the requirements of the Religious Education Curriculum Directory. The curriculum meets pupils' learning needs in a highly creative and engaging way. Well planned and well-resourced lessons ensure pupils are responsive, actively involved and keen to share their knowledge and understanding of their faith, thus enabling them to make rapid and sustained progress. Pupils are attentive, respectful and engaged. There was clear evidence of a variety of differentiated tasks throughout the school and pupils were both supported and challenged. In an observed lesson, role play was used effectively to help pupils understand what happened after Jesus rose from the dead. Support staff were very well deployed to support pupils with additional needs. The age-appropriate teaching of other faiths was evident in pupils' books. Pupils were very positive about their RE lessons and were eager to share their learning.

Pupil achievement in religious education is outstanding

The achievement of pupils in religious education is outstanding, in line with, and in some cases better than in other core subjects. Pupils in this school are confident and enthusiastic which results in excellent progress across all key stages. High-quality resources and provision are evident both indoors and outdoors. Teachers are very creative in the way these resources are used to support the pupils' learning and provide for a range of learning styles, needs and abilities. Pupils show high levels of curiosity, imagination and concentration and are proactive learners. They are able to work independently and collaboratively and are given opportunities to reflect on their experiences. Teachers have high expectations and pupils demonstrate very positive attitudes to their learning which has a clear impact on the progress they make. Pupil responses in class, along with work in books demonstrates the range of progress from their starting points. There are good systems in place to ensure that those students for whom English is an additional language make good progress in line with their peers. Religious literacy is excellent and pupils are confident in their use of religious language in both discussion and written work.

The quality of teaching is outstanding

Teaching in all key stages is outstanding and never less than good. Pupil engagement in every class is of the highest standard. A wide variety of teaching strategies are used across the school, including role play, prompt cards, art and design, paired and group work thereby ensuring the needs of all pupils are met. Teachers' expert subject knowledge, used alongside skilful higher order questioning, is used to good effect to develop pupils' religious knowledge and deepen their theological understanding. Creative teaching using a wide variety of pedagogy ensures pupils are fully engaged and challenged to think more deeply about their faith across all key stages. In Reception pupils were actively involved in learning about the Resurrection story and were able to confidently talk about and name the characters saying that “Jesus had risen and was alive”. In Year 5, pupils used Renaissance paintings of the story of Emmaus to very effectively describe how the disciples were feeling about the loss of Jesus. Support staff are very well deployed and play an essential role in supporting the learning for all abilities. Behaviour of pupils in lessons and around the school is exemplary. The learning environments are bright, engaging, well-resourced and of the highest quality.

The effectiveness of leadership and management in promoting religious education is outstanding

The leadership and management of religious education is outstanding. Leaders have ensured that RE is at the heart of the school and the curriculum. The RE lead has a strong focus on improving teaching and learning, modelling good practice whilst supporting and encouraging staff. Excellent subject knowledge is developed through continuing CPD. The RE lead and the leadership team have a strong understanding of the strengths of classroom RE and the areas needed for improvement. Regular evaluation of progress takes place through rigorous monitoring and self-assessment. There is a strong understanding throughout the school of the centrality of RE in the mission of the Church. This results in excellent progress being made across all the key stages. Governors are active in supporting and challenging the leadership team to demonstrate the impact that RE has on the daily life of the school. Our Lady and St John's is a Hub school for the RE Framework and is actively engaged with the diocese and other local schools.

What should the school do to develop further in classroom religious education?

- Further refine and develop the ‘no-marking’ policy across Key Stage 2.

B. The Catholic life of the school

What has improved since the last inspection?

Since the last inspection the school has worked hard to ensure that pupils are more aware of the Church's global mission. A Mini Vinnie group has been established which is very active in supporting the charity work of the school. Support for charitable activities including CAFOD is strong and pupils are aware of how the Church offers support to those in need.

The place of religious education as the core of the curriculum

is outstanding

Religious education receives the 10% curriculum time required by the Bishops' Conference. RE is at the heart of the school and permeates all aspects of it from the welcome received to the way the mission statement is lived out by all stakeholders in words and actions. Several outstanding displays, most including pupil work of differing levels of ability, cover aspects of pupil achievement as well as anti-bullying messages and 'One Kind Word'. Relationships are strong in this school and a high level of mutual respect was observed. Discussions with parents as well as an exceptionally strong response to the parent survey show how pleased parents are with the religious education their children receive. The leadership of RE is well supported and there is effective support for staff through regular training and co-planning across paired year groups. RE is well resourced in this school and the budget is in line with other core curriculum areas. The parish priest who is a regular visitor supports pupil learning and teacher planning. Governors play an active role in the school. Governing body meetings have a regular focus on RE and the school leadership is effectively supported and challenged. The link governor makes regular visits including lesson observations, 'book looks' and pupil voice interviews and the findings are fed back at governor meetings

The experience of Catholic worship – prayer and liturgy – for the whole school community

is outstanding

Liturgy and prayer are central to the life of the school, enabling worship to be a real celebration. Opportunities for a variety of prayer experiences, individual, whole class, traditional and spontaneous ensure that pupils have a good understanding of the role of prayer in their faith. Pupil led prayer is regular and well conducted; it is a key strength of the school. An observed Gospel assembly, led by pupils, was outstanding, enabling high levels of participation by the children. During an observed teacher led Key Stage I assembly there were excellent opportunities for pupil contribution including spontaneous prayer; it was clear that such opportunities are a part of pupils' everyday experience. The prayer time at the start of the observed Nursery lesson was reverent and reflective. All classes have a prayer tree with high quality pupil prayers displayed. Children were reflective and respectful in prayer and clearly saw it as an important part of their lives. They reported having regular class Masses which they enjoy; parents are often invited, building community links. One parent commented, 'My son has improved his relationship with God and has made good progress in his prayer life.' During the pandemic, prayer continued to be supported with the Wednesday Word shared online, as well as other resources and assembly power points. The parish priest works closely with leadership, staff and pupils in supporting their prayer life and collective worship. It is clear that this is an area under continuous development by the school and leaders are not afraid to try out new and imaginative ways of enhancing the prayer experience for pupils.

The contribution to the Common Good – service and social justice – is outstanding

This is an inclusive school valuing all pupils and supporting their development. One member of staff commented, 'We are a family, we all work together, we are never alone and everyone is valued'. Staff care about well-being and actively support pupils with class 'worry boxes', regular circle time and the 'Snug' room where children can have a quiet space to reflect. Two Emotional Literacy Support Assistants and a school counsellor are available, and these play their part in ensuring that pupils are able to flourish as happy, well-behaved learners. Regular celebration assemblies recognise pupils' talents and achievements. The school supports many charities on a local, national and global level. These include the local food bank, CAFOD, The Passage and Hope for India. Pupils are proud of the way they support those in need and have a good understanding of why the Church calls them to be active in the service of others. One pupil commented, 'As Catholics we want to help people, it means you follow in Jesus' footsteps'. They were particularly proud of recent fundraising for the Ukraine and the collection by the Mini Vinnies for the local food bank. The pupils are keen to take advantage of the wide range of leadership opportunities offered by the school.

The partnership with parents, school and parish, and collaboration as an integral part of the diocese through its relationship with the diocesan Bishop and those acting on his behalf is outstanding

The school has built outstanding relationships with parents evidenced by the excellent parent survey results. Parents and carers actively share and support the mission of the school and have a high regard for the work of the staff in developing the faith of their children. One parent commented, 'It's a very supportive and engaging school which delivers and role-models kindness.' Parents are encouraged to participate in school events at key times in the school year. There are good links with the local parish and with the diocesan community of schools. Senior staff and governors regularly attend diocesan courses and there are strong links with the diocesan education service through the RE advisor. During the pandemic the school worked in close collaboration with parents to ensure the pupils continued to learn and thrive, and strong support was offered to vulnerable families.

The effectiveness of the leadership and management in promoting the Catholic life of the school is outstanding School leadership is outstanding. The mission statement, 'We live, learn and love with Jesus' informs all aspects of school life and is evident in all relationships and encounters in Our Lady & St John's. Leadership at all levels shows a dedicated and dynamic commitment to the Church's mission in education. The school's self-evaluation process is exemplary and shows a healthy commitment to continuous improvement. There is a real and living sense of community which comes from the leadership and permeates all aspects of the Catholic life of the school. This is an inclusive school and diversity is celebrated. Staff well-being is taken seriously, and effective systems are in place to develop and enhance the contribution of the staff team. New members of staff are given strong support during induction and in their delivery of the RE curriculum. Governors have a clear commitment to share in the strategic leadership of the school; they provide robust challenge to the senior leadership team and carry out their duties with energy and enthusiasm.

What should the school do to develop further the Catholic life of the school?

- Develop the retreat programme for both pupils and staff.
- Further develop and extend the existing good practice in pupil-led worship.
